INFORMATION ABOUT OUR USE OF COOKIES

Our website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users of our website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and also allows us to improve our site. By continuing to browse the site, you are agreeing to our use of cookies.

A “cookie” is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or the hard drive of your computer if you agree. Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer’s hard drive.

We use the following types of cookies:

- Authentication cookies. When you log onto our website, these help us show you the right information and personalize your experience. These are essential cookies.
- Security cookies. These are used to enable and support our security features (for example, to enable you to log into secure areas of our website, such as our Client Portal), and to help us detect possible malicious activity. These are essential cookies.
- Preferences, features and services cookies. These are used to customize our content for you and remember your communications preferences and details (for example, your choice of language or region). They can help you fill out forms and submit information on our website more easily. These are essential cookies.
- Performance and analytics cookies. These help us learn how well our website and plugins perform (for example, by counting the number of visitors and seeing how visitors move around our website when they are using it). They also help us to understand, improve and research our products, features and services.

Please note that third parties (including, for example, advertising networks and providers of external services like web traffic analysis services) may also use cookies, over which we have no control. These cookies are likely to be performance and analytics cookies.

You can block cookies by activating the setting on your browser that allows you to refuse the setting of all or some cookies. However, if you use your browser settings to block all cookies (including essential cookies) you may not be able to access all or parts of our site.

Except for essential cookies, all cookies will expire after two years.
